About Julie Truschel

With over 35 years experience in the criminal justice field, Julie offers cost effective assistance for program design, implementation, evaluations and technical support needs in the community corrections field.

Having employment history in both juvenile and adult corrections, she is able to understand the issues of interacting with a variety of program populations. She is familiar with the topics facing institutions as well as community based programs having worked in both settings. With successful experiences at private companies and within government agencies, understanding the inherent differences of each, Julie can serve as a liaison with your business partners. Connections with key researchers allow her to stay current with new developments regarding evidence based practices.

Coordinating many programs at a variety of levels across the nation has provided extensive experience over the years.
